STATE COMMITTEES OF TWO PARTIES TO MEET

Republicans and Washingtons Will Gather at Harrisburg

NOTICES ARE SENT OUT

Both Parties to Assemble on Same Day--Changes to be Made in Officers

The newly elected Republican and Washington party state committees will meet at Harrisburg on Tuesday, September 30. The names of the committeemen will not be known for some days and it has been necessary to summon them together by general announcement that there will be a meeting. Secretary of the Commonwealth Robert McAfee has been unable to furnish the respective state chairman with lists of the new committeemen because they have not been certified to his department by the various counties, and the official count of the ballots cast at last week's primary election will probably be required to determine who they are.

The Republican meeting will be a most interesting one, and important. Business of the utmost importance is to be transacted, among which will be the election of officers.

The call for the Republican meeting has been sent out by Chairman Henry G. Wasson. Under the law a meeting would have to be held on or before October 1. Wasson will hardly be a candidate for re-election. The name of W. W. Griest of Lancaster, former Secretary of the Commonwealth, has been suggested for the chairmanship though the place may go to a Philadelphia man.

Former Postmaster Thomas L. Hicks of Philadelphia will decline a re-election as chairman of the Washngton party. The place may go to Lex N. Mitchell of Punxsutawney, Thomas A. Crichton of Tioga, cashier in the State Treasury, or to former Representative Ziba T. Moore of Philadelphia. A Nevin Deitrich of Franklin County will likely be re-elected secretary of the Washington party.

OFFICERS OF ENCAMPMENT ARE INSTALLED

Officers were installed in the Caligreen Encampment, No. 254, I. O. O. F. Wednesday night, and five new members were initiated. District Deputy Grand Master J. S. Crawford had charge of the installation. The following officers were installed: Chief patriarch, Ward Hendershot; senior warden, Richard Johns; treasurer, J. S. Crawford; scribe, M. Willson.

Following the installation of officers and the transaction of other business, the members of the encampment repaired to Wagner's Ice Cream parlor where they had a lunch. On Satuday night the five new members of the encampment will be taken to Monongahela, where three degrees will be conferred on a class from Monongahela and Charleroi by the Pitcairn degree team.

Contract to Use Quarry

Arrangements Made for Stone Supply for State Highway Department

When a contract was agreed upon today for a stone quarry to be used by the State highway department from which to procure stone needed in the improvement of the new road leading out from Lincoln avenue extension to Colvins farm, one of the last moves was made towards the near completion of the work. The state highway department began work on the road the first of this week. The quarry contracted for is located on the farm of Joseph Clements.

VETERANS IN REUNION

CAMPFIRE IS FEATURE

Donora Wednesday was turned over to the veterans of the Civil war, the occasion being the 48th annual reunion of the 100th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, better known as the Roundheads.

Following dinner in the various hotels the business session was held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the Grand theatre. At this meeting the principal business was the election of officers for the coming year, the election resulting as follows: President, R. A. Smith; first vice president, W. F. Lyon; second vice president, Jacob Pflug; secretary, James C. Stevenson; assistant secretary, Miss Laura M.Stevenson; treasurer, George O. Jones; chaplain, the Rev. T. W. Douglass.

At this meeting Arthur A. Moore of Monongahela and J. F. Curran, of Washington were elected honorary members of the organization. The necrological report showed that since the last reunion a year ago 32 members of the regiment had died. The official registration at the business meeting showed 52 veterans of the famous old regiment in attendance on the reunion. Following the business session the school children of Donora gave an interesting program.

At 6:30 o'clock in the evening, following supper, the parade, which was a feature of the day, was held. The line of march extended over the principal streets of the town ending at the Grand theatre where the campfire was held. The parade was led by Chief Fred Glace and a squad of policemen. The Donora Steel works band was next in line followed by the Sons of Veterans. Then came the volunteer firemen and after them the Civil war veterans in automobiles.

WANDERED A DAY AND NIGHT IN COAL MINE

North Charleroi Man Has Awful Experience in Local Workings--Asks What Day When He is Met By Friends

Lost in the Charleroi coal mine of the Valley Crystal Ice & Storage company and unable to find his way out for a day and a night, Fred Lambert, of North Charleroi, went through awful experiences this week. He is now recovering from the shock.

Monday morning Lambert entered the mine after having loaded a wagon, his intention being to get a key from a miner. He got lost. Being unfamiliar with the interior plans of the mine, he wandered farther and became more bewildered. All day he tried to find his way out, without success. Sometimes he crawled and sometimes he stumbled knowing not where he was going.

Finally Tuesday morning he limped into the dazzling sunlight to be met by John Wolfe, of North Charleroi, who had instituted a search.

"What day is this?" asked the wearied man, almost dropping to the ground. Informed of the day, he remarked he thought it had been a week. He asked Wolfe to take him home. Lambert is able to be out and about now, but is still suffering. He had nothing to eat and nothing to drink and no sleep while within the mine, but spent his time in wandering, trying to reach the mine opening.

SIX COUPLES GET DIVORCES

Court Hands Down Decrees Separating Officially Mismated Couples

Six more divorces were granted in decrees handed down by the court Wednesday. This makes 18 divorce cases thus disposed of so far at this term of argument court.

Those granted separation are the following: Jesse Sophronia Lycus, McDonald,- from William Mollard Lyons, cruel and barbarous treatment; Verdia Callender, Charleroi, from Matthew Callender, cruel and barbarous treatment; Alice Ketzer Dougherty, Hazzard, from John Dougherty, desertion; Eva Retta Allshouse, Charleroi, from Elmer E. E. Allshouse, desertion and non-support, the respondent having failed to provide for her after serving a term in the penitentiary for robbing the station at California; Joseph Cwick, Cherry Valley, from Stefan Cwick cruel and barbarous treatment; Elizabeth Miller Prosser, Monongahela, from John Prosser, desertion. Mr. and Mrs. Prosser were married at Youngstown, the marriage evidently being a runaway match. In each change of cruel and barbarous treatment the abuse of the husband grew out of his use of intoxicating liquors.

WONDERFUL DRAMA AT THE COYLE

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is being announced as one of the biggest productions of the season at the Coyle theatre. It will be produced in three reels on Friday night of this week. The tale is founded on the remarkable story told of slave times by Harriet Beecher Stowe. SENSATIONAL DRAMAS AT THE LYRIC TODAY

Two highly sensational dramas, one a circus story and the other a railroad story are to be photoplayed at the Lyric theatre today. The circus story is "The Clown's Revenge." It is a charming tale of the ringed arena, deeply dramatic, and absorbingly interesting. It is in two reels. The railroad story is "The Flying Switch." Both these features are said to be of exceptional dramatic interest, with fine acting and scenery adding to the effects.

OFFICIAL COUNT IN COUNTY COMPLETED

Commissioners Preparing for November Ballots

TIES FOR NOMINATION

Lot Drawing to Take Place to Finally Settle Fate of Certain Candidates

The official count of the primaries was completed Wednesday. Work was begun at noon last Friday and was rushed through. The official return board first took up the vote of the different parties for county offices, and then took up each election district and determined the vote received by the respective candidates in each of these districts. From the count it is determined who are the nominees. Those nominated will be officially notified.

From the tabulaton made by the official return board the nominee sheets are being made up. It is first ascertained who are the Democratic nominees are, then the Washington, then the Republican, then the Socialist and lastly the Prohibitionist. This is the order in which the nominees will go on the ballots.

From these sheets showing the nominees of each party in each election district will be prepared the copy for the ballots. Just as soon as it is ascertained what the size of the ballot will be the commissioners will take bids for the printing of the ballots.

There is a number of ties for township and borough offices in the different parties. These are being noted. There is a new law governing the deciding of these ties. Under the old law they were decided on a day or days set by the commissioners, and it was done by lot. The persons tied could appear themselves or send a proxy. If they did not appear either in person or proxy, their name did not go on the ballot. Under the new law those tied must appear on the third Friday after the primaries, which is on October 3 this year, without notice, and cast lots to decide who shall get the nomination. If they do not appear by noon of that date then the commissioners decide by lot who shall be the nominees.

CRIMES AGAINST CHILDHOOD

There is a happy augury in the awakened public conscience with regard to what are known as "crimes against childhood ,says the Harrisburg Telegraph. Singularly enough, it is only within comparatively recent years that the public has been willing to admit that children are any of its business. A century ago societies for the protection of children from cruelty were unknown. A child used to be a chattel. He was born into a certain condition, and neither the law nor public opinion, which is the forerunner of law presumed to interfere with the fates that placed him there.

Now all that is changed. We are conserving childhood. We are beginning to mold society at a period when its individual members are most susceptible to formative influences.

More than half the crimes against childhood have been suppressed. Barbarities such as Dickens described, and which were frequently inflicted upon the children of his time, are almost unheard of today. The fact is that most of the crimes against childhood now are crimes of kindness rather than crimes of cruelty

In our effort to avoid severities we have substituted indulgences which are quite as harmful Recent news dispatches tell of an instance that illustrates the point. A 10-year-old boy in Chelsea, Mich., while playing with an airgun an indulgent parent had given him, put out the eye of a playmate. The next night this same boy's 8-year-old brother shot and killed a second boy in a game with a gun.

There can be no more heinous crime against childhood than to permit children to play wth weapons which grown men can scarcely handle with safety.

This is only one phase of the modern crimes against our boys and girls—a mere symptom of the too violent change in public opinion which is smothering the youth of the land with kindness.

Take, for example, the doting mother who slaves at the washtub while she dresses her daughter in diaphanous clothing and sends her off to school looking like a young coryphee. Is this not a greater crime against the girl than though she were to be compelled to dress within the means of the family and to share in the necessary labors of the household?

Or the boy who is turned out a college without ever having done a stroke of honest work in his life: without having had an opportunity to form habits of industry; without being taught the value of a dollar and the difficulty of earning one—surely he is a victim of criminal kindness.

The children of yesterday, if they were sometimes worked too hard, at least enjoyed the advantage of being fitted for actual life, instead of growing up with false ideas and frivolous habits, as the children of today are doing.

Let us continue the campaign against the crimes of childhood, but let it be a broader-minded, more practical and more comprehensive crusade than it has been to date

WHAT WORK DOES NOT DO

According to the stories of mental distress as printed, the ten million people of New York State are suffering because a few children worked hard this fall in a canning factory while the rush was on, says an exchange

New York City has reported that it has an average of two murders a day. Not one of the murders has been committed on account of working hard or working at all. New York courts try from one to a dozen thieves a day. Not one of these ever became a thief because of hard work. The United States Government is spending more than $250,000 a year to suppress "white slavery." Not one of the criminals in that traffic became that kind of a criminal because of hard work. Not one of them was ever convicted of working. Not one of their victims has been enslaved for work or because of hard work. There are at least 15,000 convicts in New York prisons. Not one of them reached that goal of disgrace through hard work or simple work. There is not a grave of a lawbreaker in this country marked, "Death caused by work." Not one President or Governor in this Republic was ever famous because he devoted the larger portion of his life to play. In the United States billions of cigarettes are smoked annually by boys. Not one of them ever smoked a cigarette because he had to work too hard.

The fear of work is one of the terrors of this age. It is foolishness to make so much fuss about work Keep the children away from crime.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A man went in to a fashionable restaurant, accompanied by a couple of children and after ordering a lemon soda, asked the waiter to bring him three plates.

This the waiter did, but when he saw the man take some sandwiches from his pocket, put them on the plates and passed them around to the kids, he reported the matter to the boss.

"What are you doing?" indignantly cried the manager, rushing over to the sandwich party "Don't you know that this isn't a free picnic ground, where you bring your own food?

"Is that so?" was the calm rejoinder of the man, passing along another sandwich. "Who are you?"

"I am the manager," blustered the boss, with rising heat. "I——"

"Just the very person that I have been looking for," interjected the imperturbed party. "Why isn't the orchestra playing?"

Two comedians were poking fun at each other to the delight of the theatre audience.

"I'm a bank cashier," answered the other.

RICH DISPLAY OF MILLINERY AT FALL OPENING

With all the prevailing styles of millinery in all the varied hues and colors setting off picturesquely and beautifully the interior of her store at 508 Fallowfield avenue, Mrs. Emma Dawson is this week holding her annual fall millinery opening. Today was the first day of this showing of new millinery and the opening will be continued through daily until Saturday.

All the new designs in hats are the products of ideas gleaned by Mrs. Dawson during a recent trip to the fashion centers of the east. She visited in New York and learned the styles for the fall and winter and now has these latest styles on display.

It would be beyond the capabilities of mere man to describe the glories of fall millinery. To say the least the new hats look more sensible and undoubtedly handsomer than some of the freaks with which the style dictators in Paris and other places have endeavored to embellish the charms of womankind within the last few years.

One of the daintest kind of styles is that of the hat known as the London whip. Another is the chic Pocohontas model. The most of the ultra fashionable fall hats exhibit handsome effect with a solitary feather or plume or aigretts or "whip" extended at an angle with a droop from the back of the hat. Mrs. Dawson has all these styles and new hats are still arriving, one of the newer kind that is termed the Boston model.

Following the veterans came the members of various civic societies. In the line of march were 103 automobiles.

The campfire meeting was opened with music by the Steel Works band. The invocation was offered by the Rev. A. M. Reed of Greenville, the retiring chaplain. During the evening an organization gave two drills in one of which they spelled out in living forms the word "Roundheads" while in the other the words "Sons of Veterans" were shown on the platform. The Sons of Veterans of Donora during the evening presented a campfire scene which brought forth much applause. Recitations were given by Miss Sarah Kelly and Miss Margaret Zeizic. Probably the most interesting feature of the evening was that part of the program given over to the veterans when various members of this famous regiment told something of their experiences in the Civil War. The campfire came to a close with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by Mss Laura Tomer.

IMMENSE SUM BEING SPENT BY RAILROADS

Many millions of dollars are being spent by the railroads in various extensions and new lines in the Pittsburg district during the present construction season. Most of the money is being expended in the opening up of new coal lands, and when the present projects are completed much new territory will be available for exploitation and the wealth of the community will have been added to by many times as much as the work is costing.

The biggest piece of railroad construction now under way in this district is the extension of the Montour Railroad from North Star, its present terminus, to Mifflin, where it will connect with the Wheeling divison of the Baltmore & Ohio. The new road will describe nearly a semicircle around the south and west sides of Pittsburg crossing five different lines in its 35 miles of length. Besides opening up 100,000 acres of new coal land, it will provide transportation facilities for hundreds of people living in the territory it will traverse, who at present live far from any railroad. It is estimated that the new line will cost $2,000,000. It is now 60 per cent completed, and will be under operation by next summer.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is grading for a third track along the Panhandle main line from Hanlin to Dinsmore, a distance of 5.4 miles. Increased traffic has made this necessary. Panhandle officials say that the need for more trackage is continually arising and it is probable that in a few years three tracks will have been constructed all the way through to Columbus.

Another piece of construction that the Panhandle has undertaken is a spur from VanEman on the Chartiers Valley division to the Marianna mines of the Pittsburg-Buffalo Company. This spur will cross the Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio at Eighty-Four, thus giving a much needed outlet for the mines, which have had to depend upon the Pittsburg, Virginia & Charleston Railroad exclusively heretofore.

Uncle Tom's Cabin will be at the Coyle Theatre all day Friday 61-t3

BERRYMAN STORE OPENING TODAY

Decorated with ferns and palms and with the bright hued colors of various goods exhibited in tasty arrangement and wth the entire store in gala attire, the fall opening of the store of J. W. Berryman and Son is taking place today and tomorrow. Numerous visitors are visiting the store.

All departments show results of careful attention in decorating.

The millinery department is the most attractive department—to the women—in the entire store. All the latest creations in hats are being shown here, and the variety of colors and shapes lend beauty to the surroundings. Eastern model hats, the kind with the peculiar drooping plume, feather or aigrette in many colors are apparent favorites. In the suit department the next most attractive place, is to be seen the very latest in fall and winter styles of gowns and dresses.

The notion room, down stairs at the Berryman store with goods tastily exhibited and with greens furnishing a background is proving a very attractive spot to visit. The men's department of the store is like the rest in gala attire, and decorations are to be found there setting off the surroundings. The opening will be continued tomorrow. An extra force of clerks has been provided by the Berryman store and arrangements are perfect.

RAILROADS ARE AIDING THE FOREIGNERS

With a view of familiarizing its foreign laborers with the English language, the Pennsylvania Railroad has instituted a correspondence school in which all foreigners are eligible to become students. For the instruction of its pupils in the English language the railroad company has prepared a series of lessons, not unlike those to be found in readers of the primary public schools, containing simple words and sentences, and these will be distributed to the members of the correspondence school for study.

The first lessons are devoted to the alphabet, vowels, diphthongs, and such simple words as "man," "spade" "dirt," "car" and "work." As the student advances longer words such as "engine," "shovel" are introduced in the booklets, and short sentences, such as "pay day is the best day." With the introduction of the words and sentences is supplied their translation from the Italian.

While the lessons are given and corrected by railway mail service the company is encouraging the foreign pupils in getting together at frequent intervals for personal instruction and practice in speaking and reading.

STATE COMMITTEES OF TWO PARTIES TO MEET

Republicans and Washingtons Will Gather at Harrisburg

NOTICES ARE SENT OUT

Both Parties to Assemble on Same Day--Changes to be Made in Officers

The newly elected Republican and Washington party state committees will meet at Harrisburg on Tuesday, September 30. The names of the committeemen will not be known for some days and it has been necessary to summon them together by general announcement that there will be a meeting. Secretary of the Commonwealth Robert McAfee has been unable to furnish the respective state chairman with lists of the new committeemen because they have not been certified to his department by the various counties, and the official count of the ballots cast at last week's primary election will probably be required to determine who they are.

The Republican meeting will be a most interesting one, and important. Business of the utmost importance is to be transacted, among which will be the election of officers.

The call for the Republican meeting has been sent out by Chairman Henry G. Wasson. Under the law a meeting would have to be held on or before October 1. Wasson will hardly be a candidate for re-election. The name of W. W. Griest of Lancaster, former Secretary of the Commonwealth, has been suggested for the chairmanship though the place may go to a Philadelphia man.

Former Postmaster Thomas L. Hicks of Philadelphia will decline a re-election as chairman of the Washington party. The place may go to Lex N. Mitchell of Punxsutawney, Thomas A. Crichton of Tioga, cashier in the State Treasury, or to former Representative Ziba T. Moore of Philadelphia. A Nevin Deitrich of Franklin County will likely be re-elected secretary of the Washington party.

OFFICERS OF ENCAMPMENT ARE INSTALLED

Officers were installed in the Caligreen Encampment, No. 254, I. O. O. F. Wednesday night, and five new members were initiated. District Deputy Grand Master J. S. Crawford had charge of the installation. The following officers were installed: Chief patriarch, Ward Hendershot; senior warden, Richard Johns; teasurer, J. S. Crawford; scribe, M. Wilson.

Following the installation of officers and the transaction of other business, the members of the encampment repaired to Wagner's Ice Cream parlor where they had a lunch. On Satuday night the five new members of the encampment will be taken to Monongahela, where three degrees will be conferred on a class from Monongahela and Charleroi by the Pitcairn degree team.

Arrangements Made for Stone Supply for State Highway Department

When a contract was agreed upon today for a stone quarry to be used by the State highway department from which to procure stone needed in the improvement of the new road leading out from Lincoln avenue extension to Colvins farm, one of the last moves was made towards the near completion of the work. The state highway department began work on the road the first of this week. The quarry contracted for is located on the farm of Joseph Clements.

VETERANS IN REUNION

CAMPFIRE IS FEATURE

Donora Wednesday was turned over to the veterans of the Civil war, the occasion being the 48th annual reunion of the 100th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, better known as the Roundheads.

Following dinner in the various hotels the business session was held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the Grand theatre. At this meeting the principal business was the election of officers for the coming year, the election resulting as follows: President, R. A. Smith; first vice president, W. F. Lyon; second vice president, Jacob Pflug; secretary, James C. Stevenson; assistant secretary, Miss Laura M.Stevenson; treasurer, George O. Jones; chaplain, the Rev. T. W. Douglass.

At this meeting Arthur A. Moore of Monongahela and J. F. Curran, of Washington were elected honorary members of the organization. The necrological report showed that since the last reunion a year ago 32 members of the regiment had died. The official registration at the business meeting showed 52 veterans of the famous old regiment in attendance on the reunion. Following the business session the school children of Donora gave an interesting program.

At 6:30 o'clock in the evening, following supper, the parade, which was a feature of the day, was held. The line of march extended over the principal streets of the town ending at the Grand theatre where the campfire was held. The parade was led by Chief Fred Glace and a squad of policemen. The Donora Steel works band was next in line followed by the Sons of Veterans. Then came the volunteer firemen and after them the Civil war veterans in automobiles.

WANDERED A DAY AND NIGHT IN COAL MINE

North Charleroi Man Has Awful Experience in Local Workings--Asks What Day When He is Met By Friends

Lost in the Charleroi coal mine of the Valley Crystal Ice & Storage company and unable to find his way out for a day and a night, Fred Lambert, of North Charleroi, went through awful experiences this week. He is now recovering from the shock.

Monday morning Lambert entered the mine after having loaded a wagon, his intention being to get a key from a miner. He got lost. Being unfamiliar with the interior plans of the mine, he wandered farther and became more bewildered. All day he tried to find his way out, without success. Sometimes he crawled and sometimes he stumbled knowing not where he was going.

Finally Tuesday morning he limped into the dazzling sunlight to be met by John Wolfe, of North Charleroi, who had instituted a search.

"What day is this?" asked the wearied man, almost dropping to the ground. Informed of the day, he remarked he thought it had been a week. He asked Wolfe to take him home. Lambert is able to be out and about now, but is still suffering. He had nothing to eat and nothing to drink and no sleep while within the mine, but spent his time in wandering, trying to reach the mine opening.

SIX COUPLES GET DIVORCES

Court Hands Down Decrees Separating Officially Mismated Couples

Six more divorces were granted in decrees handed down by the court Wednesday. This makes 18 divorce cases thus disposed of so far at this term of argument court.

Those granted separation are the following: Jesse Sophronia Lycus, McDonald, from William Mollard Lyons, cruel and barbarous treatment; Verdia Callender, Charleroi, from Matthew Callender, cruel and barbarous treatment; Alice Ketzer Dougherty, Hazzard, from John Dougherty, desertion; Eva Retta Allshouse, Charleroi, from Elmer E. E. Allshouse, desertion and non-support, the respondent having failed to provide for her after serving a term in the penitentiary for robbing the station at California; Joseph Cwick, Cherry Valley, from Stefan Cwick cruel and barbarous treatment; Elizabeth Miller Prosser, Monongahela, from John Prosser, desertion. Mr. and Mrs. Prosser were married at Youngstown, the marriage evidently being a runaway match. In each charge of cruel and barbarous treatment the abuse of the husband grew out of his use of intoxicating liquors.

SENSATIONAL DRAMAS AT THE LYRIC TODAY

Two highly sensational dramas, one a circus story and the other a railroad story are to be photoplayed at the Lyric theatre today. The circus story is "The Clown's Revenge." It is a charming tale of the ringed arena, deeply dramatic, and absorbingly interesting. It is in two reels. The railroad story is "The Flying Switch." Both these features are said to be of exceptional dramatic interest, with fine acting and scenery adding to the effects.

At the fourth quarterly conference of the Methodist Episcopal church of Charleroi held Wednesday evening, members of the church adopted unanimously a resolution requesting Superintendent J. H. Commissioners Preparing for November Ballots

Lot Drawing to Take Place to Finally Settle Fate of Certain Candidates

The official count of the primaries was completed Wednesday. Work was begun at noon last Friday and was rushed through. The official return board first took up the vote of the different parties for county offices, and then took up each election district and determined the vote received by the respective candidates in each of these districts. From the count is is determined who are the nominees. Those nominated will be officially notified.

From the tabulaton made by the official return board the nominee sheets are being made up. It is first ascertained who are the Democratic nominees are, then the Washington, then the Republican, then the Socialist and lastly the Prohibitionist. This is the order in which the nominees will go on the ballots.

From these sheets showing the nominees of each party in each election district will be prepared the copy for the ballots. Just as soon as it is ascertained what the size of the ballot will be the commissioners will take bids for the printing of the ballots.

There is a number of ties for township and borough offices in the different parties. These are being noted. There is a new law governing the deciding of these ties. Under the old law they were decided on a day or days set by the commissioners, and it was done by lot. The persons tied could appear themselves or send a proxy. If they did not appear either in person or proxy, their name did not go on the ballot. Under the new law those tied must appear on the third Friday after the primaries, which is on October 3 this year, without notice, and cast lots to decide who shall get the nomination. If they do not appear by noon of that date then the commissioners decide by lot who shall be the nominees.

CRIMES AGAINST CHILDHOOD

There is a happy augury in the awakened public conscience with regard to what are known as "crimes against childhood ,says the Harrisburg Telegraph. Singularly enough, it is only within comparatively recent years that the public has been willing to admit that children are any of its business. A century ago societies for the protection of children from cruelty were unknown. A child used to be a chattel. He was born into a certain condition, and neither the law nor public opinion, which is the forerunner of law presumed to interfere with the fates that placed him there.

Now all that is changed. We are conserving childhood. We are beginning to mold society at a period when its individual members are most susceptible to formative influences.

More than half the crimes against childhood have been suppressed. Barbarities such as Dickens described, and which were frequently inflicted upon the children of his time, are almost unheard of today. The fact is that most of the crimes against childhood now are crimes of kindness rather than crimes of cruelty.

In our effort to avoid severities we have substituted indulgences which are quite as harmful. Recent news dispatches tell of an instance that illustrates the point. A 10-year-old boy in Chelsea, Mich., while playing with an airgun an indulgent parent had given him, put out the eye of a playmate. The next night this same boy's 8-year-old brother shot and killed a second boy in a game with a gun.

There can be no more heinous crime against childhood than to permit children to play wth weapons which grown men can scarcely handle with safety.

This is only one phase of the modern crimes against our boys and girls—a mere symptom of the too violent change in public opinion which is smothering the youth of the land with kindness.

Take, for example, the doting mother who slaves at the washtub while she dresses her daughter in [illegible] clothing and sends her [illegible] like a young against the girl than though she were to be compelled to dress within the means of the family and to share in the necessary labors of the household?

Or the boy who is turned out a college without ever having done a stroke of honest work in his life; without having had an opportunity to form habits of industry; without being taught the value of a dollar and the difficulty of earning one—surely he is a victim of criminal kindness.

The children of yesterday, if they were sometimes worked too hard, at least enjoyed the advantage of being fitted for actual life, instead of growing up with false ideas and frivolous habits, as the children of today are doing.

Let us continue the campaign against the crimes of childhood, but let it be a broader-minded, more prac[illegible] sade than it has been to date.

WHAT WORK DOES NOT DO

According to the stories of mental distress as printed, the ten million people of New York State are suffering because a few children worked hard this fall in a canning factory while the rush was on, says an exchange.

New York City has reported that it has an average of two murders a day. Not one of the murders has been committed on account of working hard or working at all. New York courts try from one to a dozen thieves a day. Not one of these ever became a thief because of hard work. The United States Government is spending more than $250,000 a year to suppress "white slavery." Not one of the criminals in that traffic became that kind of a criminal because of hard work. Not one of them was ever convicted of working. Not one of their victims has been enslaved for work or because of hard work. There are at least 15,000 convicts in New York prisons. Not one of them reached that goal of disgrace through hard work or simple work. There is not a grave of a lawbreaker in this country marked, "Death caused by work." Not one President or Governor in this Republic was ever famous because he devoted the larger portion of his life to play. In the United States billions of cigarettes are smoked annually by boys. Not one of them ever smoked a cigarette because he had to work too hard.

The fear of work is one of the terrors of this age. It is foolishness to make so much fuss about work. Keep the children away from crime.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A man went in to a fashionable restaurant, accompanied by a couple of children and after ordering a lemon soda, asked the waiter to bring him three plates.

This the waiter did, but when he saw the man take some sandwiches from his pocket, put them on the plates and passed them around to the kids, he reported the matter to the boss.

"What are you doing?" indignantly cried the manager, rushing over to the sandwich party. "Don't you know that this isn't a free picnic ground, where you bring your own food?

"Is that so?" was the calm rejoinder of the man, passing along another sandwich. "Who are you?"

"I am the manager," blustered the boss, with rising heat. "I——"

"Just the very person that I have perturbed party. "Why isn't the orchestra playing?"

Two comedians were poking fun at each other to the delight of the theatre audience.

"I'm a bank cashier," answered the other.

RICH DISPLAY OF MILLINERY AT FALL OPENING

With all the prevailing styles of millinery in all the varied hues and colors setting off picturesquely and beautifully the interior of her store at 503 Fallowfield avenue, Mrs. Emma Dawson is this week holding her annual fall millinery opening. Today was the first day of this showing of new millinery and the opening will be continued through daily until Saturday.

All the new designs in hats are the products of ideas gleaned by Mrs. Dawson during a recent trip to the fashion centers of the east. She visited in New York and learned the styles for the fall and winter and now has these latest styles on display.

It would be beyond the capabilities of mere man to describe the glories of fall millinery. To say the least the new hats look more sensible and undoubtedly handsomer than some of the freaks with which the style dictators in Paris and other places have endeavored to embellish the charms of womankind within the last few years.

One of the daintest kind of styles is that of the hat known as the London whip. Another is the chic Pocohontas model. The most of the ultra fashionable fall hats exhibit handsome effect with a solitary feather or plume or aigretts or "whip" extended at an angle with a droop from the back of the hat. Mrs. Dawson has all these styles and new hats are still arriving, one of the newer kind that is termed the Boston model.

RAILROADS ARE AIDING THE FOREIGNERS

With a view of familiarizing its foreign laborers with the English language, the Pennsylvania Railroad has instituted a correspondence school in which all foreigners are eligible to become students. For the instruction of its pupils in the English language the railroad company has prepared a series of lessons, not unlike those to be found in readers of the primary public schools, containing simple words and sentences, and these will be distributed to the members of the correspondence school for study.

The first lessons are devoted to the alphabet, vowels, diphthongs, and such simple words as "man," "spade" "dirt," "car" and "work." As the student advances longer words such as "engine," "shovel" are introduced in the booklets, and short sentences, such as "pay day is the best day." With the introduction of the words and sentences is supplied their translation from the Italian.

While the lessons are given and corrected by railway mail service the company is encouraging the foreign pupils in getting together at frequent intervals for personal instruction and practice in speaking and reading.

The campfire meeting was opened with music by the Steel Works band. The invocation was offered by the Rev. A. M. Reed of Greenville, the retiring chaplain. During the evening an organization gave two drills in one of which they spelled out in living forms the word "Roundheads" while in the other the words "Sons of Veterans" were shown on the platform. The Sons of Veterans of Dunbar during the evening presented a campfire scene which brought forth much applause. Recitations were given by Miss Sarah Kelly and Miss Margaret Zeizic. Probably the most interesting feature of the evening was that part of the program given over to the veterans when various members of this famous regiment told something of their experiences in the Civil War. The campfire came to a close with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by Mss Laura Tomer.

IMMENSE SUM BEING SPENT BY RAILROADS

Many millions of dollars are being spent by the railroads in various extensions and new lines in the Pittsburg district during the present construction season. Most of the money is being expended in the opening up of new coal lands, and when the present projects are completed much new territory will be available for exploitation and the wealth of the [illegible] community will have been added to by many times as much as the work is costing.

The biggest piece of railroad construction now under way in this district is the extension of the Montour Railroad from North Star, its present terminus, to Mifflin, where it will connect with the Wheeling divison of the Baltimore & Ohio. The new road will describe nearly a semicircle around the north and west sides of Pittsburg crossing five different lines in its 35 miles of length. Besides opening up 100,000 acres of new coal land, it will provide transportation facilities for hundreds of people living in the territory it will traverse, who at present live far from any railroad. It is estimated that the new line will cost $2,000,000. It is now 60 per cent completed, and will be under operation by next summer.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is grading for a third track along the Panhandle main line from Hanlin to Dinsmore, a distance of 5.4 miles. Increased traffic has made this necessary. Panhandle officials say that the need for more trackage is continually arising and it is probable that in a few years three tracks will have been constructed all the way through to Columbus.

Another piece of construction that the Panhandle has undertaken is a spur from VanEman on the Charmines of the Pittsburg-Buffalo Company. This spur will cross the Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio at Eighty-Four, thus giving a much needed outlet for the mines, which have had to depend upon the Pittsburg, Virginia & Charleston Railroad exclusively heretofore.

Uncle Tom's Cabin will be at the Coyle Theatre all day Friday 61-t3

BERRYMAN STORE OPENING TODAY

Decorated with ferns and palms and with the bright hued colors of various goods exhibited in tasty arrangement and wth the entire store in gala attire, the fall opening of the store of J. W. Berryman and Son is taking place today and tomorrow. Numerous visitors are visiting the store.

All departments show results of careful attention in decorating.

The millinery department is the most attractive department—to the women—in the entire store. All the latest creations in hats are being shown here, and the variety of colors and shapes lend beauty to the surroundings. Eastern model hats, the kind with the peculiar drooping plume, feather or aigrette in many colors are apparent favorites. In the suit deparument the next most attractive place, is to be seen the very latest in fall and winter styles of gowns and dresses.

The notion room, down stairs at the Berryman store with goods tastily exhibited and with greens furnishing a background is proving a very attractive spot to visit. The men's department of the store is like the rest in gala attire, and decorations are to be found there setting off the surroundings. The opening will be continued tomorrow. An extra force of clerks has been provided by the Berryman store and arrangements are perfect.
